Inoculation Arrangements Made By Town Council

LAC LA BICHE — The Town Council has made arrangements with the local doctors for the inoculation of all children. One afternoon will be set aside each month for this purpose. Parents would be well advised to take full advantage of the facilities provided. Judging by the relatively small number of children that have been inoculated it's a blessing that no major epidemic has occurred. The recent outbreak of mumps here, however, has shown that many inconveniences can be caused.

Cleaners Defeat Dr. Swifts In Men's Bowling Finals

LAC LA BICHE — The Recreation Bowling Centre was the scene of some tense moments on Friday, March 26. The best of five finals between the Cleaners and Dr. Swifts went the full five games before the Cleaners eked out a 23 points margin. The Cleaners took the first game handily but the teachers came back strong to take the next two. The game was a sea-saw affair throughout, with seldom more than 20 to 30 points separating the two teams.

Members of the winning team were: T. Varze, V. Varze, M. Hryb and R. Michetti. The losing team were: P. Mulyk, N. A. Chodan, F. W. McMillan and J. Strimbitsky. High scores were: T. Varze 275, N. Chodan 267, and M. Hryb 252. High totals for the five games were: M. Hryb 1097, and N. Chodan 1095. The high totals for this team was scored by Dr. Swifts with a total of 867.

Cancer Crusade Aims For $220,000; Gov.-General Asks Campaign Support

The month of April which has become known traditionally in Canada and throughout the world as "Cancer Control Month" will again see the Canadian Cancer Society on its Annual Cancer Crusade. It is announced this week by G. R. A. Rice, of Edmonton, President of the Society's Alberta Division. Mr. Rice stated that Alberta's quota of the $1,513,000 share will be $220,000.

Emphasizing the importance of the cancer problem, His Excellency, The Right Honorable Vincent Massey, C. H., Governor General of Canada, has issued a "Message to the People of Canada," calling for the support of the work of the Society, and its fund raising efforts during the month of April.

The message from His Excellency reads as follows:

"Since the first settlers came to this land, Canadians have worked together to solve their problems. During this month of April we see further evidence of this as we join with the volunteers of the Canadian Cancer Society to make the Annual Cancer Crusade a success.

"In universities and hospitals across the land, able men and women work tirelessly to discover the cause of cancer and to find some effective forms of treatment. Their work is vitally important to all of us. Their success depends largely upon your support.

"Research, however, is only part of the story. Our present forms of treatment can be most effective when the disease is discovered in its first stages. Through some 1,400 local units from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Canadian Cancer Society volunteers are informing our people of the importance of early diagnosis.

"The Society also devotes its energies to a welfare program in aid of cancer sufferers. Sick room supplies, transportation to and from clinics, and family care are provided by volunteers. These men and women give freely of their own time.

"Research, education, and welfare services are expensive. The Canadian Cancer Society receives its income from voluntary contributions only. We can all share in this good work by supporting the Cancer Crusade."

(Signed)

"Vincent Massey"

Governor General of Canada.

The Annual Financial Report of the Alberta Division of the Society, just released shows that $242,364.97 was raised through the Cancer Crusade in Alberta last year. Of this, 23.7% or $49,857.63 went to Research into Cancer's causes and cures, 31.2% or $65,590.21 to a year round program of public education, 27% or $66,887.96 to welfare services designed to bring aid to cancer sufferers, 9.6% or $20,288.19 to the free Province-wide Cancer Dressing Service, 4.5% or $19,514.37 to General Administration, and 4% or $7,940.42 to the costs of the Crusade itself.

Don't Be A Slave to Your Chickens -- Let The Birds Do The Work

North West FREE CHOICE Growing Supplement Crumbles and Whole Grain Is All You Need

NO GRINDING, NO MIXING, NO HAULING

THE BIRDS WILL BALANCE THEIR OWN FEED

When the chicks or turkeys are eight weeks old, change from chick starter or turkey starter to North West Free Choice Growing Supplement in one hopper and equal parts whole wheat and whole oats in other hoppers. There should be four times as much feeding space for grain as for supplement crumbles. Even if you have no hoppers you can feed the grain (all the birds will eat) on clean ground. Be sure to always have the Growing Supplement crumbles before the birds, and they will eat only enough to balance their feed.

When the birds are ready to lay, all you need to do is change to North West Laying Supplement Crumbles. Still no grinding, no mixing, no hauling.

Watch this space in your paper each week for more news of our FREE CHOICE feeding

Trade Conferences Rule On Surplus Disposal

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada and the United States have agreed not to dispose of their agricultural surpluses in world markets without full consultation with each other and the other "interested countries."

A joint communique, issued in Washington and Ottawa at the close of the first meeting of the joint committee on trade and economic affairs, recognized the need to keep international "fire sales" of farm products from upsetting normal markets.

Four cabinet officers from each country took part in the two-day meeting, the first since the committee for cabinet-level conferences on joint trade policies was set up last fall.

The communique said "They discussed various aspects of present trade relations and agreed on the desirability of avoiding any action which would interfere with this trade from which the two countries derive such great benefits."

Why Farmers Mechanized

Cornell University economists have come up with the real reason farmers in the United States have turned to mechanization. The economists have been studying the actual cost of keeping a horse, or horses, in operation on the farm.

According to the results of this study, it costs $141 to maintain a horse in harness on the farm. A team of horses would, therefore, cost $282 a year. The cost break-down is divided into two parts, about one-half is the cost of feed and bedding. Other costs make up the other fifty per cent of the total.

One of the costs figured by the Cornell economists is the labor cost. The economists arrived at a figure of sixty-two hours, which they say represents the labor required in a year to keep up a horse. This labor is figured at $50.

In brief, this labor item means that a farm team costs approximately 68 cents an hour for every hour of work on the farm. When one considers the low cost of tractors and figures out the hourly cost of using a tractor, he can see that it compares favorably with the cost of using a team of horses, or even mules. That, in short, is the answer to the question of why farmers have been turning from horses and mules to tractors and mechanized equipment.

No Interim Payment

There will be no interim Wheat Board payment this spring on deliveries from the 1953 wheat crop, according to a statement made by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce in the house of commons last week. The minister said that the Wheat Board had not made any sales of wheat on the last crop. Evidently, the sales that had been made in the past six months were from the carryover which totalled 363 million bushels on August 1st last.

In recent years farmers received an initial payment on the basis of $1.40 for No. 1 northern at the terminal at the time their wheat was delivered in the early part of the crop year. An interim of 20 cents was then made during the ensuing late winter or early spring. Farmers relied on this interim payment for spring financing. The only payment which will now be paid is the final accounting on deliveries during the 1952-53 crop year.

Canadian wheat production last year was 614 million bushels of which 584 million was produced in the prairie provinces. The Wheat Board handles the sale of wheat produced in the West.

Marilyn And Baseball

Those dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans who have been following the recent marriage of Marilyn Monroe, whizz-bang doll of the movies, and Joe DiMaggio, ex-whizz-bang slugger of the New York Yankees, came in for a rude shock recently. The press carried an account of an interview with Miss Monroe in Tokyo, and in it, she admitted she had never seen a baseball game.

Though a number of her fans suppose that she was attracted to DiMaggio partly by her admiration for his diamond ability, since she has never seen a ball game, it must be assumed that DiMaggio's other qualifications comprised most of the DiMaggio appeal.

The question which arises in our mind, when we hear that Marilyn has never seen a baseball game, is what the couple will talk about. If Joe doesn't talk baseball, his conventional repertoire will naturally be limited. But then there are other subjects—like Marilyn—and maybe that's the answer.

No Wheat "Give-Away"

The federal government at the present time is not contemplating any plan to give away wheat to hungry nations. Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, told the house of commons that such a suggestion had been received from various parts of Canada but to give away the property of western producers is a serious matter, he said, and there might be objections.

The Alberta Liquor Control Board is indulging in an experiment to cut down on infractions of the law against consuming beer outside of licensed premises or private homes. A recent order prohibits the sale of beer by the case from an hotel within a radius of 25 miles of Edmonton or Calgary after 8:00 p.m.

If this new ruling is designed to cut down accidents attributable to driving while drinking, it is a hopeless failure. In addition, it may even be a greater hazard and is manifestly unfair to certain hotel proprietors in the affected towns.

T. W. Pue

As it stands, a carload of people can drive to St. Albert or Morinville, for instance, and drink beer in the licensed premises of a hotel until eight o'clock in the evening. If at least one member of the party has sufficient presence of mind, they can purchase several extra cases to take home, provided they do so before eight o'clock. They can then continue to buy more to drink on the premises until closing time, go home and continue to drink until all the beer in the cases is consumed. After that, unless they know of some bootlegger nearby who is willing to sell more beer at a premium price, they have to wait until the morning when the hotel opens again before consumption of the beverage can be resumed.

But supposing our beer drinking friends forget that 8 o'clock has come and gone. It is nearly time for our Morinville or St. Albert hotelkeeper to close up and our friends are still thirsty. How can they satisfy their still unquenched appetite? They must have more beer but the law-abiding hotelkeeper is unable to sell them a case or two to take home.

This being a day of quick transportation they hop in their car a few minutes before closing time and make a fast trip to Legal or Edmonton where it is still legal to buy a case of beer, as long as the beverage room is open.

As I see it, here are a few results of this lopsided ruling:

(a) The beer drinker is likely to drink more beer before he gets home, thus making his driving away from the hotel more of a hazard.

(b) There is added danger in that "last-minute" dash to the next town to get the case of beer denied the drinker at his home base.

(c) This ruling, if devised to reduce total sales of beer will likely do so in some places (where it applies) but it undoubtedly increases sales at other points.

(d) It makes the sensible Alberta citizen who would like to take home a case of beer for moderate consumption at home more of a felon and social outcast than he was even before.

I believe the Alberta government is trying hard to arrive at a solution to the ever-present problems of the liquor trade. But when new laws and rulings are made they should be fair to all in the business.

And these laws should be enforced. But this poses a big problem. For instance, it is against the law to drive a car if your driving judgment is impaired by even one glass of beer.

That's the law. But everyone knows it is broken outside every hotel in Alberta almost every hour of the day. To be logical about it, the Attorney-General should post an RCMP officer outside every hotel and promptly arrest every citizen who steps from a beer parlor to his car or truck.

Nobody—not even the most ambitious dry—would want to see that kind of persecution. So I suggest that the Alberta Liquor Control Board should use discretion in any new rulings that tend to restrict the privilege of drinking beer at home. Because when a man is driving home from an hotel it is much better if the six bottles of beer are in a case under his arm instead of in his belly.

Note And Comment

Wheat ranked as Austria's second largest export commodity in 1952-53, representing 10.2 per cent of all exports. The value of wheat and wheat flour shipments totalled nearly $200 million.

Weeds cost farmers in the three prairie provinces $255 million a year, according to H. E. Wood of the Manitoba department of agriculture. The loss from weeds is equal to about one-fifth of the crop returns.

KING JAMES PERFECT

In answer to Rev. G. A. Sauder's letter re the Standard Revised Version of the Bible, I want to state that one who compares the Standard Revised Version with that of the King James Version won't get very far until he sees how paganism has wound its way into this new translation by perverting the real meaning of the Scriptures, by either omitting whole passages, or leaving out words in hundreds of instances, in the SRV to correspond with the teachings of modern preachers of the day.

If the Bible in its entirety had been taught from the pulpits, there wouldn't have been so much lawlessness in the world as there is today. The Church has failed in its mission.

We are told God's Holy Law is no more binding, but nailed to the cross, being born again or converted is no more a necessity in order to obtain eternal life, but as long as one has his name on the Church record, he has a ticket for heaven.

The prophecies of the Bible which tell us the meaning of present world conditions are not heard from the modern pulpits. The only hope for this sin-cursed world lies in the teachings of the King James Version of the Bible, which is Christ's inspired word. No substitute will take its place.

Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish ought from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the Lord, Deut. 4:2.

Add thou not unto His words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar. Prov. 30:6.

If any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophesy, God shall take away His part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city and from the things which are written in this book. Rev. 22:19.

It is a serious thing to tamper with God's inspired word.

DOG KIDNAPPERS

I don't suppose the people who stole our children's pet dog have the decency to respond to a public plea for its return. Still one must try, and as your paper has such a wide circulation in this district, it's possible the culprits will read this letter and return the dog.

Our farm home is located on the banks of the Pembina River. On Saturday, March 6, a strange car came speeding from the east and our little dog ran down onto the ice to see what the commotion was all about. Mrs. Wilson went out to try and call him back—and got there just in time to see the car stop and the occupants snatch up the little dog and take him away with them.

Our children are crying and unhappy about the loss of their dog and we are all bewildered and shocked to find there are apparently people mean enough to steal a family pet. The kiddies worry too that "Buddy" may not be treated well.

Certainly "Buddy" was no prize dog. He's small and useless on the farm except to be loved by our children. Perhaps the people driving along the ice of the river had been drinking and were irresponsible for their actions and did not at the time realize what a mean, dirty trick they were pulling off.

So if by now they have sobered up I hope they'll reconsider their contemptible conduct and make amends by returning "Buddy" to the arms of the family that misses him so much.

WITH HAMBURGER!

Last December one of your readers reported seeing a robin in South Edmonton district. Here it is nearly spring and I haven't seen one yet. December is too early for robins, your reader must have been mistaken. The "robin" must have been a too-fat sparrow with catnap on his manly chest.

An Ode to the Onoway Farmer's Bonspiel

By MRS. PETE FLORKEWICH

We assembled in the morning, nine o'clock to be exact—Twenty rinks or more were entered, the schedule was intact. Now the "skips" sure had a handful, as they wrestled with the mob, To procure co-operation was a most stupendous job.

For most of us were greenhorns, some ne'er had touched a "rock"—I'm sure that our "delivery" gave the skips an awful shock. Such terms as "In curve", "On the broom", were purely Greek to us, And even I could sympathize, if some were heard to cuss.

Now the rink I have in mind, was our own, as you must know. We were guided by a skip, whose fame will surely grow, For he had all the patience of Job in days of old, And like "Matt Baldwin" of the "Champs", his rock was good as gold.

A woman threw the lead rock, she tried with might and main. And though she carried weight, her efforts were in vain. That she was no "Jim Collins", was plain as plain could be—As down the hack she gave her all, then slid on bended knee.

For all her rocks were short, and the others swept like — To pull 'em past the hog, where they were supposed to dwell. Though two and three worked frantically, their sweeping was in vain, For our neighboring opponents, just knocked them out again.

Our second had a lovely glide, but what could you expect, With no co-operation, her rocks had but small effect. In common with the "champ", our third had just a "name"—P. F. were his initials, but how was he to blame?

For he was just a farmer, who had never touched a "rock", Until that very morning, in the rink, at nine o'clock. Sometimes he threw 'em wide, sometimes they were too hard, Or there before an empty house, they acted as a guard.

Now our skip in consternation, when it came his turn to throw, Looked the situation over, and then he let her go—Though he faced a gruesome ordeal, he put 'em in the house, And often scored a single, assisted by his spouse.

Though our play was not so good, we were keenly motivated, But like many of the others, we were soon eliminated. Now with aching back and muscles, we still can wear a grin, "Hats off" to all you curlers, and may the best rink win.

To the people of the town, from the farmers' one and all, Here's a plain and simple "Thank You" for a time we'll oft recall. Though our ego was deflated, and with aches and bruises sore, We became more "Curling Conscious". Could the townfolk ask for more?

Says Health Grants Don't Cover Expenses

W. J. C. Kirby (PC—Red Deer) said in the Alberta legislature that municipal governments have an extra financial burden because government grants to health units do not cover expenses.

Mr. Kirby asked Health Minister Cross if he knew that the maximum salary the Alberta government allows for a medical officer of health is less than the minimum in British Columbia.

Dr. Cross said he has no idea what B.C. medical officers are paid.

Friends Laugh When Girl Says She Wants to be Lady Detective

Dear Louisa:

I want to become a detective so bad I'm nearly crazy. It's in me and I can't seem to get it out. I've tried to put it out of my mind but the harder I try, the more I want to become a detective.

The reason I've tried to put it out of my mind is that people laugh at me. A girl wanting to be a detective and when I turn on the radio to hear a detective story they snap it off and scold me. They just won't listen to me, that's why I'm writing to you. I want someone to give me advice, whether I should go ahead and try to be a detective or put it out of mind. You may think I'll grow out of this silly idea as I get older but I feel I'll always have the yearning as long as I live.

S.N.C.

Answer:

It is not as easy to be a good detective as it seems to be from hearing radio stories. A good detective should have an adequate education, he should know something about psychology and lots of other things that add up. So if you really feel that such a career is the one think you want, you should begin studying all of the things now that will make you a success later on.

Dear Louisa:

I have fine and delicate hair, I've noticed that if I use a hair rinse my hair looks more glamorous and has more weight. I've wondered if, whether in the long run, hair rinses won't harm my hair. Also what type of care should I use when washing, etc. What is a dry shampoo?

Interested.

I regret I cannot answer your questions, Interested. I am not a Beautician expert and even if I were I would want to see and know what rinse you were using before deciding if it were harmful to your hair. I suggest you consult a reputable beautician or hairdresser.

End Of Budget Sees Also End Education Hearings, New School Grants

EDMONTON—The budget debate ended, an education committee finished its hearings, new school grants were announced and the Social Credit members endorsed their monetary policies. Those were the highlights of last week's Alberta legislature sittings.

In closing the debate on a record $205,000,000 budget, Premier E. C. Manning said provincial government financial aid has given sewer and water facilities to a greater number of towns in Alberta than in many of the older provinces in eastern Canada. He made the statement in reply to opposition criticism of the municipal aid program. He also said the amount of federal income taxes taken from Alberta exceeds the combined municipal, school and hospital taxes.

The house then went into a clause-by-clause study of the estimates for the 1954-55 fiscal year. By the end of the week nearly $106,000,000 expenditures by six departments had been examined and approved.

The session also reached another turning point last week when hearings of the education committee concluded Friday after nine sittings. The committee now will discuss the evidence heard and briefs submitted from several provincial organizations concerning problems of education.

Education Minister A. O. Aalborg told the legislature that an extra $2,300,000 will be paid by the provincial government in the next fiscal year under a new basis of making operational school grants. Included in that figure is an extra $1,600,000 going to school boards under a new basis of making teacher grants.

Proposed amendments to the school grant regulations would fix the annual grant at $850. At present the grants range from $550 for a room in which instruction is given in grades one to six to $1,100 for a room in which instruction is given in home economics, industrial arts, commercial, agricultural and technical electives.

Highlight of the two private members' sittings during the week was the termination of a seven hour debate on social credit monetary policies. The discussion lasted for three sittings. The outcome was a 49-8 endorsement of a proposal to urge the federal government to issue money and credit as outlined in the Alberta Bill of Rights.

Heading a long list of legislation introduced last week was a bill to establish a company to construct and operate a natural gas distributing system in the province. Shares will be sold to the public. Premier Manning said incorporation of the company is to establish complete control of gas within the province. The legislation only effects the trunk gathering system and other gas company lines and export gas companies will not be effected. The bill, which was forecast in the throne speech, enacts the Alberta Gas Trunk Pipe line Company Act.

Labor legislation introduced last week indicated that the government had abandoned its plan to decertify unions during an illegal strike. The legislation provides that awards of arbitration boards are to be accepted or rejected by a majority of those actually doing the voting. At present the awards of arbitration boards are binding and are accepted or rejected on the basis of the majority of those entitled to vote.

The government rejected a recommendation from labor that certification votes which determine whether a union shall gain bargaining rights are to be determined by those actually doing the voting. The bill takes out of the current legislation all automatic penalties provided for in cases of illegal strikes. They are loss of bargaining rights and loss of checkoff of dues. An amendment, opposed by labor, provides for the suspension of certification of unions when it is determined that the union does not represent the majority of the employees.

Amendments introduced to the City Act include changes in references to conform with the new proposed Federal Housing Act rather than with current housing legislation. This bill also outlines restrictions on cities in connection with the purchase of land by the city outside the city limits.

Penalties against violators of tax-free gasoline regulations will be increased to deal with a few chronic offenders who use purple gasoline and take a chance on paying a small fine rather than pay the full price for the fuel.

First reading also was given to a bill which would raise members' indemnities from $3,000 to $3,600.

Attorney-General Lucien Maynard announced in the house that Alberta highways soon will be policed by "ghost" cars. A special system of highway traffic patrol will start this spring. Maynard made the announcement following suggestions by Liberal Leader J. Harper Prowse who called for electronic detection devices, disguised police vehicles and road blocks.

Tourists Spend $30,000,000

EDMONTON (BUP)—According to the Provincial Director of Publicity, Edward Bryant, more than 1,000,000 tourists visited Alberta last year and spent about $30,000,000 in the province.

Speaking at a meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Club in Edmonton, Bryant said the tourist trade is the province's third major industry.

He said about $167,000 will probably be spent on publicity this year, but only a small portion will go to tourist publicity. He added that tourists are being encouraged to come to Alberta during June and September, rather than in the more crowded summer months of July and August.

Heavy Loss In Hardware Blaze; Three Firemen Overcome By Smoke

EDMONTON (BUP)—Loss in stock alone was estimated at about $100,000 after a stubborn blaze gutted an Edmonton hardware at 10014-102 Ave. last Friday.

Three of the firemen battling the general arm fire were taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital when they were overcome by the dense clouds of smoke pouring from the building. The firemen, B. Swantum, M. Darling and Allan Wilson, suffered no ill effects.

There were no other injuries as the six tenants in four suites above the store escaped without mishap after the alarm was sounded. None of the residents was able to bring out any belongings.

The fire started when three employees were burning rubbish in an incinerator in the north-east corner of the basement. A sudden flare-up ignited inflammable materials nearby and the workers were unable to control the blaze with hand fire extinguishers. The flames had gained considerable headway when firemen arrived.

Manager John R. Munro said the stock in the basement and main floors was completely lost. The fire, believed fed by a large amount of paints and varnishes in the basement, burned through the interior and broke through the roof of the building at 11 a.m.

Crews battled the fire from both the front and rear, pouring high-pressure streams of water into the basement and the upper floor. The burning stocks of rubber and paints sent thick grey clouds of smoke hundreds of feet in the air and forced firefighters to work with respirators.

The possibility of an explosion of inflammable materials caused a lawyer in the Court House directly across the lane from the burning building to adjourn a hearing on a criminal case. Traffic was re-routed and the City Engineers Department was called on to provide wooden barricades to hold back crowds that pressed in around the building.

Fifty-three minutes after the all-out was sounded at the hardware, the fire department was called to a fire at a nearby Edmonton warehouse (The City Stores and Works at 96th Street and 105th Avenue). The blaze was between floors, and lasted only 15 minutes. Damage is not expected to be great.

Wants To Stay In Prison

ATLANTA, Ga.—James Phillips, serving a seven to ten year sentence for manslaughter, was recently offered his freedom after serving seven years. The 40-year old Negro convict, who has a wife and ten children at home, refused to leave the Cobb work camp. Prison board officials say Phillips has a right to serve his full term if he wants to.

Edmonton Leads Western Cities In Post War Growth

EDMONTON (BUP)—Edmonton is the third fastest growing city in Canada, Mayor William Hawrelak said last week, exceeded only by Montreal and Toronto.

Speaking at a meeting of the South Side Kiwanis Club, Hawrelak said the average Canadian city is expanding at the rate of one and three quarter per cent. Edmonton, meanwhile, is "racing along at eight and three-quarter per cent," Hawrelak said.

At the meeting, the mayor also officially opened a drive for $30,000 in aid of the crippled children of Alberta.

Piano-making is a $2,000,000 a year industry in Canada.

Record Month For Traffic Deaths

EDMONTON (BUP)—The Alberta Safety Council February was one of the worst months in the province's history for high-way fatalities.

Four accidents claimed 16 lives, the council reported, and in all 21 persons lost their lives in Alberta last month.

The 21 deaths compared with 11 in February, 1953. However, only 1,203 accidents were reported, 75 less than 1953. The number of persons injured totalled 197, a decrease of 570 persons compared with February of last year.

In Edmonton alone, no traffic deaths were reported this February compared with five last February. Thirty-six persons were injured and 387 accidents were reported.

Born Before Father

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal.—Adolphus A. Washaer applying for an old-age pension, was asked to submit proof of his age. He wrote the Census Bureau, which informed him he was born in Eugene, Ore., Feb. 11, 1863—four years before his father was born. So he wrote the bureau again suggesting the possibility of error, but the bureau informed him that its records are accurate and an error is out of the question.

COFFEE FLOATING ISLAND

½ cup freshly made, double strength coffee
1½ cups milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ tsp. cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Slowly stir in coffee, milk mixture. Cook over gently boiling water, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon, about 7 to 8 minutes. Strain into sherbet glasses or serving dish; cool to room temperature. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and vanilla, beat until stiff. Drop on custard from tip of spoon to form peaked islands. Chill thoroughly. Five servings.

The above recipe, uniquely called "Coffee Floating Island", is a favorite of Mrs. C. Cote, of Donnelly, Alberta, and for it she received $1.00 from Favorite Recipe Editor, P.O. Box 4430, South Edmonton.

News From Other Alberta Towns

Local Growers Gain Honors In Provincial Seed Fairs

FALHER—Messrs. Rene and Arne Bremont have recently received honors for their grain exhibits in several seed fairs in various Alberta centres. They live two and a half miles north of Falher and cultivate 10 quarter-sections, which annually yield good crops.

Having operated their farms since 1951, the young farmers took interest in sending seed samples to grain fairs. After winning awards for their grain, it encouraged them to send more varieties to more fairs. This year they took part in five.

In Fort St. John, they took third prize for oats and second for sweet clover. Their sweet clover exhibit came out first, the rye and oats, second, at the Beaverlodge fair. Fairview: first for oats and sweet clover, second for rye. At the Lacombe fair, the sweet-clover was second, and fifth at the Calgary fair. These are very encouraging rewards.

Mr. Rene Bremont, secretary of the Falher-Donnelly Agricultural Society since 1951, feels that more farmers should send entries to outside fairs. It is little trouble to go to and yet results in so much encouragement for the farmer. Those who take part in the local fair can also join in others. Agricultural officials at nearly all the fairs explain that more entries from northern Alberta regions would bring keener competition as they are aware of the good quality of grain harvested here.

It is hoped that next year seed exhibits from the Falher-Donnelly-Girouxville areas will be well represented in such fair. Those who do will benefit from it.

Meantime, all wish the Bremont farmers continued success in their enterprise.

Glen Lynk Wins In Interesting Election

BAPTISTE LAKE — Glen Lynk was re-elected as councillor for Division 4, winning over George Rabin in a close race that had its exciting moments. Mr. Rabin had a substantial lead in the eastern part of the division, but solid support in the western polls enabled Mr. Lynk to win by an overall margin of 37 votes. Final unofficial count was 193 for Lynk and 156 for Rabin.

An interesting feature of the contest was the heavy vote registered by the Metis population living to the west and north of Baptiste Lake. Usually displaying little or no interest in Municipal affairs, these residents made an almost 100% turnout to vote for their favorite candidate. The majority voted at the poll held in Lahaieville School, where Mr. Lynk led by 50 votes.

Following is the unofficial result by polls:

	Lynk	Rabin
West Athabasca	30	87
Baptiste Lake	46	29
Larver	17	16
Grosmont	16	7
Lahaieville	57	7
Winding Trail	27	10

Pembina Oil Town Gets Modern Facilities

DRAYTON VALLEY, Alta. (BUP)—Surveyors, engineers and town planners are working out the details for the development of Alberta's newest oil town, Drayton Valley.

The provincial director of town and rural planning, H. N. Lash, said today that the small town in the heart of the newly discovered Pembina oil field will be a model community that will set an example for town planners across the nation.

He said applications have been received for a number of commercial developments which will represent a cross-section of the business required to service an expected record oil development.

The town, with a present population of just over 2,000 persons, is about 60 miles southeast of Edmonton. The Pembina oil field is believed to be Canada's largest oil pool.

Lash said he has received applications for the construction of supply houses, bulk plants, hotels, theatres, auto camps, a dairy, several cafes, oil supply facilities and welding shops.

Permits will not be issued, Lash said, until agreements have been completed between the department of municipal affairs and property owners.

Subdivision applications have been filed by most of the 20 landowners who hold 95 per cent of the property to be used in the development.

One of the conditions, designed to minimize land speculation, will require subdivision applicants to agree to sell land on the understanding that the purchaser will immediately apply for a development permit. Applicants also will have to pre-pay sewer and water charges.

Lash said several contractors have expressed interest in possible housing developments, but there have been no definite applications.

Water for the town will be supplied by wells. A test well has been drilled and there is assurance of a plentiful supply, Lash said. The wells will supply about 100 gallons a minute.

Detailed plans have been made for building lot dimensions and block numbers and engineers are working on water and sewer estimates.

A public meeting will be held April 12 to hear representations in connection with the general development plans. Planners are designing the townsite as the permanent residence of about 2,000 persons; the number expected to remain in the town after full development of the large oil area.

In the meantime, one supply company firm is operating in a Drayton Valley office from a large trailer camp until the development is started.

Last year Canadians sent or received 1,934,433 cablegrams.
